The Challenge of Decentralized Care

Those living with chronic conditions must juggle a variety of medical devices, providers and medications. Since no single approach will work for every individual, having integral, scalable, and personalized solutions can help enhance adherence to health care management.

The Integrated Holistic Solution

DarioHealth provides all needed pillars for integrated management: a medical device, a mobile application and the support of coaching services. The solution is data-driven and has shown to help improve clinical outcomes with a decrease of 2.3 points in HBA1C.
