Cautions Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

Statements made in this presentation that are not statements of historical fact are forward-looking statements and are subject to the safe harbor provisions created by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements relate, but are not limited, to the components and projections of our financial models; the size of the Wafer Fab Equipment (WFE) market; our ability to continue to outperform the WFE market; the value and extent of our competitive advantage and the differentiation of our products and services; the value of and our ability to engage in collaborations with customers; the strength of our market position in the inflections (such as multi-patterning, 3-D devices and packaging); the percentage of the WFE market that encompasses inflection technologies; the extent of etch and deposition intensity in the inflection points; the extent to which we can sustain growth in the applications and markets influenced by inflections; the components of our industry outlook such as the extent of capital equipment purchases by Memory, Foundry and Logic companies, as well as the timing and size of any such purchases; the ability of our products and services to address customer requirements at the inflection points; our strategic objectives and focus areas for 2015; the anticipated revenue from our sales to Japanese customers; trends in the global economic environment and the semiconductor industry; factors that affect our tax rates; and forecasts for returning capital to stockholders, tax rates, shipments, revenues, gross margins, operating margins, share count and earnings per share on either a GAAP or a non-GAAP basis. Some important factors that may affect these forward-looking statements include but are not limited to: business conditions in the semiconductor industry and the overall economy; global political and economic conditions; electronics consumption; the financial performance and expectations of our existing and prospective customers; the introduction of new technologies; customer, supplier or competitor consolidation; merger and acquisition activity; the level of sovereign investment in companies that consume our products and services or that compete with us; the occurrence and pace of technology transitions and conversions; actions of competitors, consumers, semiconductor companies and key suppliers and subcontractors; and the success of our R&D and sales and marketing programs. These forward-looking statements are based on current expectations and are subject to uncertainties and changes in condition, significance, value and effect, as well as other risks detailed in the oral presentation accompanying these slides, and documents filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including the reports on Form 10-K for the year ended June 29, 2014 and on Form 10-Q for the quarters ended September 28, 2014 and December 28, 2014. These important factors could cause actual results to differ materially from expectations. As a result, you should not place undue weight on such forward-looking statements. The Company undertakes no obligation to update the statements made in this presentation.

March Quarter Results

Record quarter, continuing outperformance trajectory

- Lam’s values and scalable culture continue to build competitive advantage
- Record levels for shipments, revenues and Op Inc in the March quarter
- Greater than $1B in revenue for 7th consecutive quarter
- Differentiated product and services directly address market driving inflections
- Collaborating with our customers increasing trust and support

Strength in the inflections, sustainable growth opportunity

- Inflections of multi-patterning, 3D devices, and packaging critical to scaling

- Inflection spending estimated to reach ~50% of WFE by 2017

- Etch and deposition intensity increases in the inflections driving $2B SAM expansion

- Sustainable growth with estimated inflection-based market share >50% across the product portfolio and 28.5% of WFE SAM
Differentiated Products Addressing the Inflections

ALD and conductor etch leadership

- Rapid growth in the expanding ALD market
  - Success in spacer-based multi-patterning extended to multiple segments
  - VECTOR® ALD Oxide delivers technology with productivity necessary for high-volume manufacturing adoption

- Extending market leadership in conductor etch
  - Secured additional critical 3D NAND conductor etch position with Kiyo® product
  - Kiyo with Hydra® technology enabling CD-critical applications; accelerating adoption in the inflections

Forecast 2015 WFE spend in a range of $34B ± $2B
Continued focus on customer trust and profitable growth

2015 focus areas:
- Execution on opportunities won
- Further increasing customer trust
- Strengthen strategic alliances
- Profitable growth of the company
- Preparing for the next set of technology inflections through sustained R&D investment

Execution excellence provides the foundation for achieving our objectives
- Builds competitive advantage
- Enhances success
- Returns value to all stakeholders through sustained profitable growth

The information provided above is only an estimate of what the Company believes is realizable as of the date of this release, and does not incorporate the potential impact of any business combinations, asset acquisitions, divestitures, financing arrangements, other investments, or other significant transactions that may be completed after the date of this release. GAAP to non-GAAP reconciling items provided include only those items that are known and can be estimated as of the date of this release. Actual results will vary from this model and the variations may be material. Reconciling items included above are as follows:

- Gross margin - amortization related to intangible assets acquired in the Novellus transaction, $21 million.
- Operating margin - amortization related to intangible assets acquired in the Novellus transaction, $37 million.
- Earnings per share - amortization related to intangible assets acquired in the Novellus transaction, $37 million; amortization of note discounts, $9 million; and associated tax benefit for non-GAAP items ($7) million; totaling $39 million.
- Diluted share count - impact of a note hedge issued contemporaneously with the convertible notes due in 2016 and 2018, 3 million shares.
