 Our Story

Over 55 years ago, Brafasco (named after Brampton Fastener Company) began as a source of fasteners, chain and rigging supplies. Quickly earning a reputation as a trusted supplier for both common and hard-to-find items, and with its knowledgeable associates, Brafasco grew to 10 locations by the mid-1990s with an ever-expanding product offering to better service the needs of our growing customer base.

With 20 locations by the early 2000s, Brafasco introduced new product categories, added a centralized customer service support team and a distribution centre that further enhanced our ability to service our growing branch and customer networks.

In 2005, Brafasco was purchased by The Home Depot and proudly joined the HD Supply enterprise. As HD Supply Brafasco, the ability to leverage new supplier relationships and customer segments quickly proved its worth to the enterprise and shareholders. Trends in commercial lighting presented another opportunity to grow into diverse segments and an acquisition was made welcoming Litemor as a part of the HD Supply Canada family.

In 2014, Brafasco then totaling more than 30 locations and over 300 Canadian associates coast to coast, closed the Litemor business and at the same time moved under the HD Supply White Cap umbrella.

In October 2020, White Cap (including Brafasco) successfully completed its separation from HD Supply and is now a privately held, independent company. Brafasco is now in progress of integrating with the Brock White Canada business that joined White Cap as part of Construction Supply Group (CSG).

Brafasco looks forward to continuing to lead the way as a trusted coast-to-coast Canadian distributor of construction and industrial supplies for our customers.
